Science

Hydroponics

Now that you know what hydroponics is, use some household items and create your own hydroponic bean garden! Look at the picture carefully.

Keep a diary and compare it with the seed diary you began 2 weeks ago when you planted seeds in soil!

Topic

When you go for your daily exercise, or when you are in the garden, see how many different types of flowers you can find. Then, count the amount you can see of each flower and display your results in a bar chart. What is the most popular flower you found? Which was the least popular? What is the difference between your most and least popular type of flower?
